					SECTION 3. 30-10-306.1 (8) (a) is unconstitutional, as written, because it violates the First Amendment guarantee of freedom of association. The bill's provision that disallows a registered voter from serving on a county redistricting commission solely because they choose to affiliate with a minor party is prejudicial and unwarranted. The bill violates the principle of one person one vote in defining the composition of county redistricting commissions. Commissions would consist of 7 members with the majority (4 members) being affialtes of the two largest political parties. The provision of majority control to the two largest political parties is permanent and gives the two largest parties control of county districting forever, regardless of a county's political make-up.
					For example, the majority of voters in San Juan County are unaffiliated. How can it be justified that Democratic and Republican Party affiliates would have majority control of redistricting in a county with a majority of unaffiliated voters. The bill should be amended so that the composition of of County Commissioner Districts		State, Veterans, and Military		county redistricting commissions is Linda Sorauf: This bill provides more minority language ballot language than federal requirements. The federal requirements for minority language ballot is when the population of a county needing this is at 10,000 people or 5% of the population of the county. This bill would change that to 2,000 people or 2.5% of the population. It also defines the State, Veterans, and Military			responsibilities in providing the minority

						In an interview with The Denver Post, Senator Foote commented that "The law is being applied unevenly. Around the state, cyclists are still getting blamed or the driver isn't getting blamed for failing to yield. We want to make it clear who is responsible and try to make enforcement more uniform across Colorado." Denver and Fort Collins each have approximately 200 miles of existing bike lanes, Boulder, Colorado Springs and Grand Junction each have
